

Fact Sheet: H.R. 4177 – The PREPARE Act of 2017

Summary

- H.R. 4177, the Preparedness and Risk Management for Extreme Weather Patterns Assuring Resilience and Effectiveness Act of 2017, is a bipartisan bill that creates an Interagency Council dedicated to identifying and managing the risks of extreme weather events and increasing resilience and coordination.
- H.R. 4177 also increases agency planning and preparedness by working with local and state planners to identify regional issues and facilitate the adoption of resilience, preparedness, and risk management best practices to be shared across all levels of government.
- H.R. 4177 was introduced on October 31, 2017, by Congressman Matt Cartwright (D-PA).

Amendments

- No amendments are expected.

Staff Contact and Phone Number

Pam Williams, Counsel, Subcommittee on Economic Development, Public Buildings, and Emergency Management, 5-3014.

#####